Graphic Novel

	Excellent 	Average 	Needs Work*
Story	The story is clear. I understood what happened, who the characters were and why they were in the story.	I understood most of the story and why the characters were in the story.	It was hard to understand the story and I didn't know why some of the characters were in the story.
Composition	The photographs have interesting and dynamic perspective that exaggerates the characters.	The photographs have interesting composition and some are dynamic.	The photographs are flat and lack perspective.
Comic Style	The comic style of your characters and backgrounds are interesting and unique.	The characters and backgrounds have style but need to be pushed a little farther.	The style is not very interesting or different from a photograph.
Advertisements	The ads are interesting, show off main character/super hero in an appealing way.	The ads are interesting and include the main character/super hero.	The ads are not very interesting or don't feature the main character/super hero.
Cover	The cover features the hero of the story and makes you want to read the book. It includes all the required text and a barcode.	The feature includes the hero and required text/barcode.	The cover is missing the hero or the required text/barcode.
Originality	This story had great ideas and a unique way of sharing them through the graphic novel.	The story had a lot of good ideas in the story.	There were no new ideas in the story
Photoshop Techniques	The images clearly demonstrate a mastery of selection, filters and layer styles.	The images show some knowledge of selection, filters and layer styles.	The images are poorly selected and/or the filters/layer styles were inconsistently applied.
Readability	The comic is easy to read, the font fits the story in an interesting way and is not crowded.	The comic is easy to read but not very interesting.	The font or the way the text is laid out makes the comic difficult to read.
